

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

The advertising system allows said server device to transmit advertising data to many client devices. The server device includes attribute information DB and URL history information DB each of which stores information related to the users. Advertising information DB stores advertising data. Advertisement selection section and transmission data generation section generate advertisement transmission data.

10

00000000.00000000